Introduction

To celebrate the creation of the African Section, for the first time the CEDA Dredging Days will be held outside Europe, in Casablanca, Morocco, welcoming participants to the home base of this new section. Appropriately, the theme will be DREDGING WITHOUT BOUNDARIES.

Dredging plays a primary role in the construction and maintenance of the port infrastructure in Africa. In fact, the silting up of some of these port areas is such that we cannot conceive of further economic and social development without taking dredging into account.

The conception of a dredging project is founded upon three essential aspects:

- The environmental aspect related to respect for the neighbouring ecosystem
 - The technical aspect related to the definition of the needs and the optimum response
 - The economic aspects related to the cost-effectiveness and benefit of the operation
- It is obvious that these three aspects remain true and important whether we are in Europe, in Africa or elsewhere although, depending on the local conditions, their relative importance will vary. Nevertheless, they remain the main concerns for all the participants.

Conference objectives

The conference will bring together researchers and practitioners from the industrial, academic and governmental sectors in the CEDA region, to promote the exchange of knowledge and experience in the dredging field.

Who Should Attend

The conference is intended for professionals from dredging and marine contractors; coastal, environmental and navigation authorities; port authorities; dredging and environmental research and consultancy organisations; designers, builders and suppliers of dredging equipment and ancillary equipment; academia; media.

Venue

The conference will be held at the Hotel Hyatt Regency Casablanca (Place Mohammed V, 20000 Casablanca, Morocco, Tel.: +212 22 26 12 34; Fax: +212 22 22 01 80, E-mail: mkt_sls@hyatt.co.ma; Web: <http://casablanca.hyatt.com/casab/>. The hotel is located within the heart of the city.
